Detention bids high; architect remains hopeful

BY ED LEPOMA

Bids have come in over monies available to build a Juvenile Detention Center in Hancock County and expand the county jail.

Three bids were received when supervisors met Monday, but the lowest submitted came in more than $400,000 over the $1.2 million available for construction.

James Polk, the Hattiesburg architect selected to put out specs for the project, seemed perplexed by the turn of events, but remained optimistic that a compromise could be reached with the apparent low bidder that would allow construction to go forward.

He asked supervisors to let him review the bids with the contractor to see what might be scaled down in the project to bring both projects more in line with the money that is available.

"You've got to come up with some ideas," said District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman. But, County Attorney Gerald Gex, was doubtful. "I don't believe you can take out tuch," that much," said Gex.

Gex suggested supervisors might want to reject all bids and readvertise a third time, but Polk asked supervisors for some time to negotiate.

Polk said he planned to meet Tuesday with the apparent low bidder on the project to see where cuts can be made, and he asked supervisors to hold off a decision until a workshop meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 24.

District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour asked Polk how much improvements proposed by the Circuit Court impacted the Detention Center costs.

"It's a considerable amount," Polk said, but he didn't have estimates. New witness rooms, jury rooms, and offices for judges and other court officials were requested to be included on the second floor of the courthouse. The juvenile detention quarters would be separated by a public lobby on the second floor.

When the three bids were opened, J.O. Collins Construc-

Board closes on site

BY B.R. HAWKINS

The Hancock County School Board closed loan proceedings on property purchased for the site of a new middle school Tuesday.

Board attorney Teri Wyly of Eaton and Cotrell Law Firm, of Bay St. Louis, advised the board at the continuation of a recessed meeting on Tuesday that the process was now complete. The Board moved to stage combined groundbreaking ceremonies beginning at 10 a.m. Friday, Aug. 28 for both the new elementary school now under construction in north Hancock County and the new middle school to be constructed near Hancock High School on Stennis Airport Road.

In other matters, the Board choose not to take action concerning requests from parents in the Gulf Grove Apartment complex to allow their children to continue classes at Gulfview Elementary School.

The Board was confronted Aug. 12 by parents concerned by both the decision to transfer

Bay authorizes next phase drainage bids

BY MARY G. SEILEY

City leaders authorized bids Tuesday for the third segment of drainage upgrade work in Bay St. Louis.

Officials also took their first official plunge into details of a proposed historic preservation ordinance, stumbling over what areas of the city will be regulated and how much the new system will cost.

Drainage had the first and last spots on council agenda

Tuesday night. Project engineer James Chiniche said plans for "Project B" were ready for bids.

Meanwhile, the initial contract for drainage work is 90 percent complete, he said. And an order to proceed on the second phase probably will be issued in mid-September, Chiniche told council.

The massive project is being financed with a $5.5 million general obligation bond the city authorized last year. Officials have had to re-think financing arrangements for some of the work, in hopes that the bond issue will be sufficient to cover

Dunbar Health building

SentryCare high bidder

BY ED LEPOMA

While supervisors were disappointed over bids received for the Juvenile Detention Center, they were delirious over a high bid received on county property deemed surplus.

The property has been referred to as the old Health Department building on Dunbar Avenue, and it has been a vacant and deteriorating for years and an eyesore in the neighborhood.

Supervisors once offered the building free of charge to Coastal Family Health Center when the low-cost medical clinic was looking for a new home in Hancock County, but Coastal officials said it would be too costly to renovate. The 3,100-square-foot building, adjacent to the Dunbar Village assisted living center, also lacked adequate parking spaces, Coastal officials said.

When Coastal was considering the building, SentryCare, the corporation that runs Dunbar Village, came to object to the plans, saying the property was a key ingredient in their plans to expand, and they offered $65,000 for the parcel.

SentryCare's president, Chris Cheek, told supervisors his firm would be interested in buying the building and property, and Monday when supervisors opened public bids, the corporation took no chances that it would be outbid.

SentryCare submitted a high bid of $76,000. Nicholas

Waveland begins spending talks

BY BETSY GAGNET

Waveland officials began some discussion of the city's 1998-99 budget during Monday's regular workshop meeting.

City Clerk Lisa Planchard informed the Board of Aldermen that in order to balance the budget without using any cash reserves, approximately $419,000 in expenditures would have to be cut.

Those estimates were based on full funding requests received from each of the city's department heads, which have not yet been discussed by the board.

However, Planchard added that based on figures from previous years and additional revenue, which has come in since the preliminary budget was put together, expenditure cuts of approximately $250,000 to $300,000 would leave the city with adequate reserves.

During the meeting, Alderman Jay Fleuriot asked whether the city had used cash reserves last year in meeting expenditures. The proposed budget for 1997-98 showed that approximately $152,000 from the city's beginning cash-on-hand was appropriated to meet expenditures.

However, preliminary amended numbers on last year's budget show the city's revenues exceeded its expenditures by over $189,000, Planchard reported Tuesday.

The board scheduled a budget workshop meeting for 2 p.m. Friday, Aug. 21 in the mayor's office.

Contract Procurement Center opens satellite at Stennis

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Ribbon cutting ceremonies were held Friday for the Mississippi Contract Procurement Center's satellite office at the John C. Stennis Space Center.

The satellite office is located in the Mississippi Enterprise for Technology's Building 9313 at the old Mississippi Ammo Plant.

The Mississippi Contract Procurement Center is a federally backed statewide network of procurement technical assistance centers.

"Since its inception in 1986, MCPC has assisted Mississippi businesses in obtaining over $2 billion in federal, state and local government contracts," said Executive Director Richard Speight.

MCPC has nearly 1,800 Mississippi businesses in the network. The MCPC automated bid-match program matches procurement opportunities generated by over 2,000 federal agencies and nearly 500 state and local government agencies.

MCPC was formed in 1986, starting with a single office in Gulfport that served the 11 southern and coastal counties. The Gulfport office was subsequently relocated to Biloxi.

In 1987, the Greenville center was established, later followed by Columbus (1988), Meridian (1988) and Jackson (1989).

A satellite office (Tupelo) of the Columbus center opened in 1991, and satellite offices of the Biloxi center were opened at the John C. Stennis Space Center and the University of Southern Mississippi in 1998.

Says Speights, "The Stennis office will serve the businesses, prime contractors, and federal agencies located at Stennis along with businesses in Hancock and Pearl River counties."

In addition to bid matches, MCPC provides technical support: counseling, copies of federal and military specifications, price histories, listings and prime and subcontractors, etc. Training and networking opportunities are also offered.

First, MCPC notifies businesses of contracting opportunities. There are several ways the opportunities are captured for associates notification. Daily automated bid-match computer program electronically searches various federal agency contracting bulletin boards, most notably the Commerce Business Daily (CBD).

The CBD lists all federal procurement opportunities expected to be in excess of $25,000. The CBD also lists prime contract awards that have potential subcontracting opportunities. These opportunities are from federal agencies worldwide.

Bid notices are also received from state agencies and local municipalities for products and construction services that are expected to cost over $10,000.

These bid notices are input by MCPC and subjected to the same automated matching as the federal bid notices. Additionally, bid opportunities from the four Defense Logistics Agency Supply Centers, the major buying offices for common use items by all of the military services, with expected costs below $25,000 are also available for bid-match opportunities.

Among those participating were, from left, Jim Brown, assistant director, Small Business Contract Management Command, Birmingham; Lyn Stabler, acting director, MS Enterprise for Technology; Van Evans, president, board of directors, MCPC; Richard Speights, executive director MCPC; and Lee Woodyard, deputy director MCPC.

Match notifications are sent to associates daily by electronic mail, fax, or regular mail depending on method of delivery selected.

Secondly, technical assistance is provided by a procurement advisor at each regional center. MCPC advisors have over 125 years of contracting experience with both federal and private contracting enterprises.

Technical assistance includes: bid preparation; interpretation of solicitations and specifications; price histories; technical cross reference data; bidders mailing lists applications; listings of prime and sub-contractors; military and federal specifications/standards; procurement regulations, etc.

Thirdly, training is provided by seminars and workshops conducted throughout the state. Topics include, among others:

- Fundamentals of contracting with federal, state and local government agencies
- Procurement regulations and procedures (federal)
- Procurement regulations and procedures (state/local municipalities)
- Marketing
- Subcontracting
- Electronic Commerce/Electronic Data Interchange
- ISO 9000

- Proposal preparation
- Interpretation of Specifications and Standards

Fourthly, networking opportunities are provided through regional and statewide procurement conferences and business opportunities fairs.

All of these services are provided at no cost to the business.

The results of the program since its inception have been impressive, assisting Mississippi businesses with well over $2 billion in contracting opportunities while generating and/or retaining thousands of jobs.

During the first six months of Program Year 1998 (October 1, 1997-March 31, 1998) alone, clients of MCPC reported having received contracts valued at over $400 million with the assistance of the procurement technical assistance network.

These contracts created 540 jobs and were instrumental in retaining 879 other jobs.

MCPC is funded by a cooperative agreement through the Department of Defense Logistics Agency with matching funds from the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development, various city and county government agencies, economic development foundations and private corporations.

"CUEVAS" QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It has been a long time in coming, but it appears the median divider on the Highway 90 Bay of St. Louis bridge will become a reality.

Earlier this year, when the chamber's president and executive director and I meet with Highway Commissioner Ronnie Shows and his top engineer, one of the questions we asked was when a contract would be let on the highway bridge divider.

State Representative J.P. Compretta, who also serves as the chairman of the Mississippi House Transportation Committee, has been working on this project for over three years.

Those of us who travel the Bay bridge know the dangers, especially since the traffic is increasing every day on the bridge.

The contract is scheduled to be awarded in November of this year and should make the span a safer place to drive.

This year a lot of work by the Department of Transportation has been done on the two-mile span across the Bay with a lot of updating and parts replacements on the drawbridge.

Seems the drawbridge may still need a bit more work. It was stuck in an up position for a while last Friday.

Salt water and moisture has a tendency of really working on metal parts.

Just a bit down the highway, in Henderson Point, progress appears to be made on the $10.8 million project to straighten the curve.

A lot of the pilings for the elevated highway are in place. The highway overpass is over the much-used CSX railroad line and a bayou.

Completion date for the highway segment is set for April, 2,000.

Motorists need to drive with caution through that section of the highway because of the construction.

It will be good when all of the highway work is completed along the Coast, because just like the rest of the motorists, I am tired of looking at those yellow and white barrels, yet, they are really necessary for the safety of the workers as well as motorists.

Congratulations are in order for Bill Whitfield of Bay St. Louis on being elected as vice-chairman of the Mississippi Commission on Environmental Quality.

Whitfield has a degree in forestry from Mississippi State University and has been involved in his family's timber business for many years.

I think it is great to have a person like Bill on such a prestigious commission.

The start of the school year in our area is behind most youngsters now. Parents probably feel they can breathe a bit easier since the correct school supplies, etc., have now all been accomplished.

Still, parents have to fit in a bit of recreation for their children on weekends, like the annual Waveland Civic Association Children's Fishing Rodeo & Festival scheduled over the Labor Day weekend.

We will be giving you more particulars on the event as it gets near, but now is a good time for parents to make sure they have all of their kids' fishing gear ready to catch the "big one."

The fishing rodeo is free, but requires prior registration and it is open to boys and girls ages 5-16.

The Hancock County BASSMASTERS will also sponsor a BASSMASTER Casting-Kids Competition on Sat. & Sun. Sept. 5-6 in conjunction with the Waveland Civic Association's Kids Fishing Rodeo and Festival.

Family and Children Services director commends Echo stories

Dear Editor:

On behalf of all DHS Family and Children's Services workers, we commend you. The series "In the Best Interest of Children" has been very positive and enlightening.

We, who are mandated to protect children and preserve families, cannot perform our duties without community support.

In reply to the letter concerning the septic tank problems and the "bureaucratic red tape," the Department of Human Services and the Department of Health must work together to resolve such barriers if possible.

The issue of sanitation and safe drinking water is a community problem requiring all of our efforts.

In regard to foster home licensure, we will address each situation individually while working on safe, acceptable policy changes or exceptions.

Please continue to assist us to meet the needs of the children and families we serve.

Sincerely,
Illona Jones,
Regional Director,

American Legion Post 139 invites Scouts to join

Dear Editor:

The school year has begun, and now is the time to encourage your children and grandchildren to set some positive goals for life. Certainly the Boy Scouts is a very positive program that tries to teach both character and leadership. In fact, the theme for 1998-99 is "Character Counts."

American Legion Post 139 has supported the Boy Scouts from its inception some 68 years ago (Troop 208 and Pack 208). Adult leaders in years passed were mostly Legion and Auxiliary members. Most of the boys were sons of legionnaires.

Many of our former Scouts, (especially Eagle Scouts) have told many different stories about how Scouting has helped in obtaining scholarships and jobs.

The Scout Master of Boy Scout Troop 208 is Larry Clayton. The minimum age to join is 11. Troop 208 meets every Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the Scout House at the American Legion.

Troop 208 has a very active program. In addition to weekly meetings, a weekend outing is planned for most months. If we are unable to schedule a weekend we try to plan a one-day outing. All of these events are geared to teaching self-sufficiency, character and leadership.

Cost of most outings is between $8 and $15. We encourage the Boy Scouts to attend Summer Camp in June which costs about $125 for a week. The American Legion helps this cause by allowing the Scouts who sell tickets for the spaghetti dinner to apply a part of each ticket sold to the Summer Camp Fund. Adult participation as a parent is always appreciated.

For boys under 11, the American Legion also supports Cub Scout Pack 208. The Cubmaster this year is Kelvin Schulz. The boys are divided by age into groups called dens, Tigers being the youngest and the Webelos being the oldest.

Den meetings are conducted by the adult leaders at either their homes or at the Scout House.

Once a month we have pack meetings where the boys receive awards and demonstrate skills they have learned.

The Cub Scouts are very family-oriented, and parents are strongly urged to support their Cub Scouts.

Every year the Pack tries to go on two weekend outings. It is required that a parent accompany each Cub Scout.

Adult leaders are always wanted and needed. Training is provided by the Boy Scouts of America, and the American Legion helps with cost associated with this training.

Help a boy become the best he can be. Encourage him to join the Boy Scouts sponsored by your American Legion Post 139.

Please call or come by on Monday nights from 6:30-8 p.m.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

Legislators' hit list alive in Jackson

JACKSON—What in the world is state politics coming to, anyway? Even the head-hunters of the business lobby can't put out their own hitlist of state legislators without somebody getting hold of it and putting out a fake list.

This bit of shenanigans around the state Capitol last week at least helped to enliven the dog days of August on the political scene. You might call it the by-play on BIPEC.

It all started when BIPEC (the Business and Industry Political Education Committee) sent out a newsletter to its membership containing a list of 26 prospective lawmakers whose seats would likely be vacated in 1999. Open legislative seats, of course, provide an immediate feeding ground for the business-industry lobby to start growing its own candidates to fill the seats.

Lo and behold, someone got hold of the newsletter, doctored the list of lawmakers believed to be bowing out, adding 20 more names of legislators to it. Then, the fake list and the rest of the BIPEC newsletter was distributed to legislators.

Howls began to be heard all around the state from legislators put on the prospective chopping block when they didn't intend to be. Pronto, five House members phoned Speaker Tim Ford and told him, "Hell no, I'm not gonna go." Ford quickly let Dick Wilcox, head of BIPEC, know that he picked some of the wrong guys for his list.

Meantime, Wilcox discovered the cribbed BIPEC newsletter and the fake list of legislators had been circulated. So, the BIPEC leader had to come back with a letter to the organization members (and the aggrieved legislators) enclosing copies of both the REAL THING as well as the fake.

All he was trying to do in the first place, Wilcox said, was the same as others in the political speculation field (this writer, one he named) and put out his own speculation of who was leaving and, who might leave, the Legislature. Just good, clean fun, you understand.

He didn't mention, though, that along with the names of the likely departing lawmakers, were the BIPEC ratings of each of them. For years, BIPEC has produced its own rating of individual lawmakers, but won't tell either inquiring legislators or reporters how they do it or what it's based on.

Ironically, when Rep. Greg Davis (Southaven) switched from being an Independent to a Republican, his BIPEC rating overnight jumped measurably. The arcane system of ratings, whatever it is, produces numbers which are key determinants in giving BIPEC members a good idea of where to put their campaign money through their political action arm, IMPAC.

Speaker Ford, made to appear in Wilcox's letter as complicit in initially furnishing names of departing House members to BIPEC, flatly declared to this writer, "Certainly I did not." Ford only became involved, he said, in the by-play after complaints came in from several House members about wrongly being included in the BIPEC listing.

"I don't think BIPEC understood how this was going to backfire on them," Ford declared. "No legislator wants to be reported as planning to retire if he isn't because that is a sure way to get him an opponent."

Wilcox said that since 12 open seats in the 1995 elections produced new faces in the Legislature, his organization wanted to be on the ground floor to recruit "friendly" legislative candidates to fill the next batch of vacancies.

"After all, the qualifying deadline (March, 1999) is just a few months away, and we want to provide advice to our members in plenty of time for the recruiting process," Wilcox declared.

He said he had no idea of who put out the fake list of likely-to-leave legislators or what their motive was. However, the BIPEC honcho added, "the assumption is it was intended to create some concern within the Legislature about BIPEC."

Not to worry, though, he went on, saying BIPEC has reason to believe its evaluation offsets any negative feelings the fake list created. That's not the way we hear it.

Ford also said he didn't know where the fake BIPEC list of retiring legislators had originated. But, he surmised, BIPEC's own list of 26 legislative retirees had come from what the group was told by "their friends" in the Legislature.

Rep. Joe Ellzey (R-Ellisville) said "they've lost credibility with me for putting me on the list when I don't intend to quit."

Another lawmaker put the false report of his demise this way: "They wish it were so."

And the campaign season hasn't even begun.

Bay officials comment on President's relationship

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Some Democrat office holders in Bay St. Louis had strong, but mixed, reactions this week to revelations in the White House sex scandal.

City Council members who were interviewed, and the mayor, agreed that Clinton should have come forward with the truth long ago about his relationship with White House intern Monica Lewinsky.

None were sure whether the president should face impeachment proceedings.

Monday, President Clinton testified to a federal grand jury concerning his relationship with Lewinsky. In a public address following his testimony, Clinton admitted he'd had an "improper" relationship with the 21-year-old, and had not been truthful about that relationship with his wife and family, or the American public.

Clinton also maintained he had been "technically correct" when he had answered questions in a January sworn deposition, during proceedings in Paula Jones lawsuit against the president.

Favre said he doesn't "condone" Clinton's relationship with Lewinsky, but he added that problem should be worked out between him, Hillary Clinton and Lewinsky. "That's where there's been a mountain made out of a molehill," said Favre.

But lying? "I have a big problem with that," said the mayor. "If you're going to talk about it at all, don't lie about it. Be truthful about it. If you are man enough to take the action, you ought to be man enough to face up to it."

With estimates that various investigations into Clinton-related matters have cost $40 million, Favre and several council members said the country has spent far too much. "Enough is enough," said Favre. "There is so much to do. So many much more important issues. Whether it was politically motivated or not, the money we spent on this could have been much better spent on other things."

Of course, he added, had Clinton been "totally honest up front, we would have never spent it" investigating him.

Council member James Thriffley said he'd expected an apology from the president and was disappointed there was none.

"We're dealing with somebody who lives in a fantasy land, where most of his statements are scripted by somebody else," said Thriffley.

"The bottom line is the people are entitled to more accountability in all activities" of the presidency, said Thriffley. "It has always amazed me that in 1995, he gave away $40 billion to a foreign country -- an nobody blinked."

Thriffley added: "My opinion is I never did have a whole lot of faith in him from the get-go. I looked at his background."

Council president Tad Black said while he believes Clinton lied to the public in the Lewinsky matter, it's hardly the first time a politician has been caught not telling the truth. The morality of the relationship, said Black, is a matter between Clinton and God.

In the meantime, he said, it's time for the country to turn its attention to the pressing issues of the economy, the environment and Social Security.

"He's a lame duck anyway," Black said. "If he's done something court-wise sufficient to remove him from office, so be it. If there are grounds to impeach him, then impeach" him, said Black. "If not, stop spending tax money on it. He can't even run for dog catcher."

Black said he's certain the Lewinsky matter isn't the first time Clinton has been less than honest. And, he said, the current crisis has undoubtedly further shaken public confidence in politicians generally.

When he ran for re-election in 1997, Black said, he ran into at least 15 people who said they were so disgusted with politics they didn't plan to vote at all. "It pretty much disgusts people. They are disgusted with politicians because of ruthlessness and immoral acts."

Black said Clinton probably should have been totally candid about the matter during the January deposition. "If he did lie about it, he's probably not the first president who got caught with his pants down."

"The highest office in this country deserves respect," said Black. "But you have to show respect to get respect, and I don't think he's done that."

Both Black and council member Carleen Moran said they're glad they've never been in such a situation, having to weigh disastrous consequences of telling the truth.

"He's not molded to perfection," said Moran of Clinton. "The perfect person is Christ, and we should elect him."

Moran said decades ago, similar affairs were simply ignored. Impeachments were reserved for things like treason, she added.

Like Black, Moran said if Clinton is found to have perjured himself in the deposition, "and they find that to be an impeachable offense, they probably have to pursue it."

Moran said she doubts Clinton will resign in any case. "My heart goes out to the man. Imagine how humiliated he is. If the right thing is going to hurt the people you love the most, would you do it?"

Haas submitted a bid of $20,098, and W.G. Woodrick, a North Beach Boulevard resident, bid $4,114.

Contacted by the Echo, Cheek said immediate plans would be to renovate the building and use it for administrative offices and classroom space.

Down the line, Cheek said SENTRYCare plans to use the area to build more retirement units that would provide independent living areas.

In other business Monday, supervisors:

•Based on a recommendation by County engineer Larry Seal, voted to confirm Huey Stockstill Inc., of Picayune as the apparent low bidder to repave and improve 126 miles of roads in Hancock County. Stockstill was low of six bids received on the project at $3.98 million;

•Voted unanimously to appoint Oliver Sahuque as the county's new Harbormaster at a yearly salary of $26,000. Sahuque has served a term on the state Commission of Marine Resources. Supervisors said besides the new marina, he would also oversee operations and improvements at all county boat launches. Money for his salary will be included in next year's budget, effective Oct. 1.

•On a motion by District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman, voted unanimously to allow county employees in the Tax Assessor and Collector's office to wear uniforms, with the cost paid for from revenues raised by the office from the sale of maps;

•Set a Sept. 14 hearing on plans to allow Hancock County's Wastewater District I to become a water and wastewater district;

•Heard a report from Port and Harbor officials, saying revenues from cleaning railroad cars at the Port Bienville Industrial Park were at an all-time high of $166,118 last month, with higher revenues expected when the Wellman

Plant comes on line in December. P&H Executive Director Hal Walters also reported an increase in cargo flights at Stennis Airport, due to its use by Navy Seals now encamped in parts of the Army Ammo property at Stennis Space Center;

•Agreed to provide a dump truck to assist in a planned neighborhood cleanup of the Garden Isles subdivision;

•Scheduled a Sept. 8 public hearing on the proposed 1998-99 budget, with plans to adopt the budget on Sept. 15;

•Heard a request for a $2,000 annual appropriation for the South Mississippi Children's Center in Hattiesburg to help defray costs of Hancock youths center there temporarily;

•Directed Jeff Loftus, the county's consultant to the Gulf Regional Planning Commission, to set up a volunteer committee which will be charged with overseeing the upcoming census in Hancock County.

Mississippi's area code in the Gulf Coast region is now 228.

Mississippi is growing, with lots of new residences and businesses, increasing the demand for fax machines, computer modems, and phones.

To accommodate this growth, the Gulf Coast region has a new area code. As of September 14, 1998, you must use the new area code, 228, instead of 601 for long distance calls to and within the highlighted area.

If your area code is currently 601 and your phone number begins with any of the prefixes listed below, your area code will change to 228.

Please make a note of this change and remember that you may also need to reprogram telecommunications equipment like cell phones, PBXs (consult your vendor), speed dialers, fax machines, etc. to make sure all of your calls complete properly.

Local calling rates will not be affected by the change. For more information, you can visit our website at www.bellsouth.com/areacode, or call us at 1 800 964-7941.

Architect — Meeting with low bidder

tion of Gulfport was the apparent low bidder with a base bid of $1,850,000. K.C. General Contractors of Mandeville, La., bid a base of $2,186,000 and Starks Construction Co., of Biloxi submitted a bid of $2,253,000.

The county has a state Public Safety Department Grant of about $1.2 million, and the Sheriff's Department has about $236,000 set aside for expansion of the jail.

Planned is a Juvenile Detention Center that will be attached to the rear of the historic downtown County Courthouse. Up to 30 juveniles would be temporarily detained upstairs in a double-bunk arrangement. On the first floor would be public restrooms, administrative offices for supervisors and an elevator that would open up to the public lobby.

Across Court Street, Sheriff Ronnie Peterson wants to close in a portion of the jail that once served as the vehicle maintenance area. It would house up to 20 more federal prisoners being detained for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The Sheriff is paid $150 a day for housing the federal prisoners, and the additional revenue would be used to offset costs of operating the juvenile facility.

Bids for the project were originally scheduled to be opened July 10, but after receiving only one bid, supervisors were advised to return the bid unopened and readvertise.

At that time, Polk told supervisor several contractors interested in bidding on the job requested more time to get their figures together.

Before that, supervisors twice put out to bid as a separate package, the security equipment needed for the detention center and jail expansion. Both times, the bids came in well over estimates.

By state law, the county can't let a contact above the monies available for construction, but District 1 Supervisor Jeep Ladner said there might be a slim chance the county might get additional help from the state.

Ladner said he learned the state has up to $3 million available for building juvenile detention centers. He asked Jeff Loftus, the county's consultant to the Gulf Regional Planning Commission, to look into applying for another grant.

Loftus said he would, but he didn't know if those funds would be available early enough to supplement current available funds.

students from Gulfview to Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlinton and the manner in which they were notified of the transfer.

Liz Zeringue said she got the final word at 6:40 p.m., the night before the children were to go to school. "I had no time to prepare them," she said. "We didn't have the right kind of school supplies and they didn't even get a chance to say goodbye to their friends."

Board president Cheryl Bennett of Pearlinton apologized to the families and cited overcrowding at Gulfview as the reason for the Board's late decision to transfer students. However, confusion over transfers to Charles B. Murphy is not isolated to the Gulf Grove parents.

Springwood community parents were notified in July that their children would also be transferred from Gulfview to Charles B. Murphy. Parents petitioned the Board and received an exception in the form of a recommendation from Superintendent Terry Randolph.

Randolph later said, when confronted by the Gulf Grove parents with a petition, that the inclusion of the Springwood residents in the decision to move students to Charles B. Murphy was a mistake.

In a written statement Randolph said, "The Board of Education did not intend to send students from Springwood Park to Charles B. Murphy in Pearlinton. A mistake was made when the letters were sent to students in that area. The board rectified that mistake on August 3 and agreed that Springwood students would attend Gulfview School." Randolph said the whole affair had been handled poorly.

Bay — More drainage upgrades

the three segments of town included in the overall plan.

One big sticking point for the project has been easement acquisition — a protracted disagreement with CSX officials over a portion of the project added months to the schedule for bidding the initial work.

Tuesday, council members ended their meeting in a closed, executive session. Mayor Eddie Favre said the discussion would be on potential litigation over easement acquisitions in the drainage "Project C."

In another capital improvements project, council agreed to accept a low bid of $54,817 from Bowie River Construction Co., for sewer line repairs. Favre said the bid was some $30,000 under that project engineer's estimate.

Discussion of the proposed preservation ordinance came during council workshop meeting Monday as well as the council meeting on Tuesday.

As proposed by a citizen advisory committee, the ordinance would establish a formal commission to oversee new regulations on what may be done to properties in historic districts, including demolitions, alterations and new construction.

Council member Carleen Moran raised concerns over how vast an area is envisioned for inclusion in the regulations, and council members also questioned how much the new bureaucracy would cost.

Charles Gray, who serves as advisory committee chairman, said the committee is considering recommending the entire city area lying between the railroad tracks and the beach, from Bay Oaks Drive eastward.

In addition, the rest of the city's beach front area, lying between Dunbar Street and the beach, probably will be recommended for inclusion, said Gray.

He told council he doubts the system will be costly to operate, but agreed to find out what costs are carried by cities of comparable size which already have similar systems in place.

Tuesday, City Attorney John Scaife said he has "a lot of comments" concerning the proposed ordinance, but he said it's premature at this time to consider enacting the proposed regulations.

Without defining the districts first, said Scaife, the city would be "totally in the dark."

Scaife said the city first has to identify what areas would be included in the regulations.

The advisory committee, he said, has fulfilled its mission of proposing an ordinance. Now the city has to decide if it wants to create a commission to make recommendations on the districts and historic landmarks that would be under the regulations.

He also said under state law, the commission would have only nine members, not 12 as suggested by the advisory committee. Gray had told council that all but one member of the advisory group has said they are willing to be appointed to the regulatory commission.

In other business, council agreed to seek federal authority to relocate voting Precinct 3 from the Fire Department to the Senior Citizens facility on Bookter Street. Election Commissioner Jay LaGasse asked for authorization to proceed with that change.

Officials say voters will be greatly inconvenienced by the change, offering easy parking and air conditioned facilities.

LaGasse also briefed council members on work the commission is doing to purge the city voter registration rolls. So far, he said, commissioners have found 1,648 names on the rolls that are counted as duplicates, dead people, or residents who have moved.

"There'll be more too," LaGasse said. "We're going to get this straight."

LaGasse said it's been "some time" since a similar effort was made.

Council also was briefed on upcoming plans for several events in the city, including the Oct. 8-11 "Cruisin' The Coast."

Beth Carriere, Hancock County director of Tourism, said participants last year voted Bay St. Louis as their favorite participating town on the coast.

So far this year, twice as many cars are registered for the event as last year, she also said.

Carriere also told council that plans for a Sept. 25 Harley Davidson motorcycle rally are proceeding well. Some 500 to 600 bikers are expected to come to town for that event. She said participants are mostly college graduates, who will be dining and shopping locally.

Sept. 25 also is the kickoff of the annual "Place of Art" celebration, beginning with a patron's party at the depot.

Council agreed to hold a special workshop on Monday to review the administration's budget proposal for the upcoming fiscal year. Favre said he'd hoped to have the proposal in council's hands by Tuesday, but drafting the document has been more difficult than he anticipated.

He also complained that the auditing firm the city has employed for several years continues to issue letters complaining about sluggish response from city officials for information.

Favre said the firm, Moore & Powell, has all information they've requested, excluding one tax reconciliation report that the mayor is compiling.

Black, meanwhile, complained that the city hasn't provided council members with reports of new privilege licenses for months. That's due to a computer problem, officials have said repeatedly.

As it stands, there's a dispute between hardware and software experts on what's causing the computer's problem, said Municipal Clerk Bobby Parker.

Favre said the system the city has is "outdated and old. No doubt about it." But he also said he'll be discussing replacing the system during the budget considerations.

In other news from Waveland, the board is expected to approve a proclamation declaring Sunday, Aug. 23 Reverend Charles Clark Day. Rev. Clark, of the Assembly of God Church, has a long history of community involvement, said Mayor John Mason.

"It's an honor for the City of Waveland to do this for a man of (Rev. Clark's) caliber," Mason said.

8A-THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1998

'Pepsi Thunder' shares equal billing with Mother Nature

Sun Coast Speedway's special "Pepsi Thunder" event in Pass Christian was in doubt right up until race time. Mother Nature threatened to dampen the event with her own brand of rain and thunder.

Although it rained quite heavily all around the area it appeared to be lighter at the Sun Coast clay oval. The inclement weather, no doubt, caused many fans to stay away, missing an outstanding night of racing.

It did not rain on young Ron Tubbs' parade as he led flag to flag claiming his first IMCA feature win since taking over the ride from Donald Parker. Tubbs was able to move out to a comfortable lead over Chris Moran, winner of the last two features, while making his way to the checkers.

Heat winner Richie Beasley held off a hard-charging Chucky Smith to finish in the third spot. Ben Stephens also claimed one of the earlier heat races.

Noah Daspit lead a large field of Street Stocks on a green to checkers run from his front row starting position.

Steve Marsh, one of the top contenders in this class, was able to keep the heat on Daspit but could not manage to make a pass for the lead. Bubba Trotter finished third as the three were able to break away from the rest of the field as they battled for position. Bryan Cuevas and Wesley Fletcher both claimed earlier heat race wins.

Jay Ladner made it two in a row, while going for a flag-to-flag win in the Pro Stock feature.

Chet Morrison was unable to mount a serious challenge to Ladner's lead, but did manage to hold off a determined Rodney Bruce and fourth place finisher Ronnie Roberts. Heat race wins went to Randy Eaton and Ray Broadus.

Rickey Hankins continues to rule the Late Model division as he completely dominates this class in his familiar orange C & S-sponsored R2 race car.

Hankins ran away from the 12-car field on his way to another feature win at the Sun Coast oval.

Major Hudson, another Purvis driver, managed to qualify alongside Hankins in the starting lineup, but could offer no challenge to Hankins on his way to a comfortable second place finish.

Brett Lacoste and heat winner Bubba Schonewitz battled for the third spot, with Schonewitz moving past before Lacoste pitted with mechanical problems. Schonewitz held off Jeff Cooper and Heath Oestreicher as they came under the checkered flag. Alan Kirkfield was also a heat race winner.

Jeremy Eaton won both heat and feature races in the Rookie Class with Lloyd Craig and Robert Echols rounding out the top three in the feature.

The Cajun Sprints will be returning to Sun Coast next Saturday night.

Teeing it up for charity

Hosting charitable events is nothing new to Casino Magic Bay St. Louis or its founder and chairman of the board, Marlin F. Torguson.

Torguson, who lost his brother to leukemia at the young age of 28 and his best friend at the age of 42, is hosting the second annual Marlin Torguson's Leukemia Pro-Am Golf Classic Friday, Sept. 18.

The Bridges Golf Resort at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis is host site of this charity tournament.

Participants will feature pros of the Gulf States Section of the PGA who will play with each amateur foursome. The tournament is a five-person modified scramble format with one simultaneous shotgun start at 1 p.m. Friday. Events include a pairings and awards party for all participants.

The Mississippi Chapter of the Leukemia Society, which is entirely funded by public contributions, supports over 1,500 patients in its Patient Aid Program. This program financially assists and treats persons afflicted with leukemia and related cancers, such as lymphoma and Hodgkin's disease.

Without treatment, 90 percent of acute leukemia victims would die within a year. Leukemia kills more children between the ages of 2 and 15 than any other disease and it kills more adults than children.

Various sponsorship levels are still available starting with an individual player fee of $350. For information about the tournament, call the Leukemia Society of America at (601) 981-9343.

PRCC getting ready

The Pearl River Community College Wildcats kicked off their 1998 preseason football drills Aug. 9 with 70 prospects reporting. Head coach Keith Daniels and his staff have until the Sept. 3 opener against Itawamba to trim their roster to 55. The game will be played in Dobie Holden Stadium on the PRCC campus in Poplarville. Here freshman offensive lineman Mark Williams (front) of Diamondhead, grabs a piece of Picayune freshman linbacker Michael Watts' facemask during two-on-one drills last week. (PRCC photo)

Wolves link up with Coyotes, Falcons

The Mississippi Sea Wolves announced they will be continuing their affiliation with the Phoenix Coyotes of the National Hockey League and the Springfield Falcons of the American Hockey League for the 1998-99 season.

The affiliation, which began three years ago during the Sea Wolves inaugural season, is a key element to the Sea Wolves' success on the ice.

The Sea Wolves affiliation has also been an asset to Springfield and Phoenix according to Bruce Landon, president and general manager of the Springfield Falcons.

"I can speak for Taylor Burke, the assistant general manager of the Phoenix Coyotes, in how pleased we were with our agreement with the Sea Wolves last season. Bruce Boudreau was very accommodating in making players available to us, even when it left him a bit short," said Landon.

"We have taken steps this year to add more depth to the organization and plan on having as many as five contracted players in Mississippi," he added. Brian Kelley, general manager of the Mississippi Sea Wolves, said, "It's important for our fans to realize that we wouldn't even have those quality players to begin with if we did not have strong affiliates willing to work with us."

This will be the third year of the affiliation between Phoenix, Springfield and Mississippi. The Phoenix Coyotes play in the Central Division of the Western Conference of the NHL. The Springfield Falcons play in the New England Division of the AHL.

Sea Wolves host IHL exhibition

The Mississippi Sea Wolves will host two exhibition games featuring the Grand Rapids Griffins and the Orlando Solar Bears of the International Hockey League Friday, Sept. 25 and Saturday, Sept. 26, 7:30 p.m. at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

The Sea Wolves have partnered with the Mississippi Vietnam Veterans Memorial Association and the Mississippi Youth Hockey Association to help raise funds for those organizations.

This will be the first time the Mississippi Sea Wolves franchise has brought an IHL game to its home arena.

Tickets will be available at all Ticketmaster outlets for the regular prices of $15, $11, $9 and $6. Tickets will also be sold by volunteers from the Mississippi Vietnam Veterans Memorial Association and the Mississippi Youth Hockey Association.

Gagnon named to hockey board

Mississippi Sea Wolves President John Gagnon has been named to the Executive Committee of the East Coast Hockey League Board of Governors and as chairman of the Marketing Committee for the 1998-99 hockey season.

ECHL Committee assignments are made by league President/CEO Richard W. Adams and Chairman of the Board of Governors Carl Scheer.

During his tenure as president/CEO of the ECHL's Roanoke Express from 1993 until 1996, Gagnon served on the ECHL Marketing Committee, where he greatly contributed to the phenomenal growth of the league.

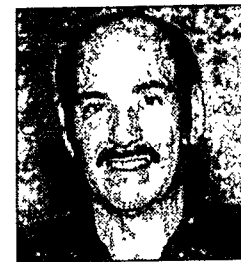

He won the ECHL Executive of the Year award in 1994. Gagnon continues to have an active voice in the development of the ECHL where he is the Sea Wolves voting governor.

'Pig Bowl' players seek sponsors for equipment

Throughout the past several years, the Hancock County Sheriff's Office in Bay St. Louis has held its annual Christmas parade which ended at the Bay St. Louis High School football field.

A flag football game between area police officers was then played to raise funds and toys for underprivileged children in the area.

Although the games were fun and often exciting, they couldn't compete with the numerous other functions occurring along the Gulf Coast, therefore causing attendance to drop off.

In August 1996, Sgt. Bryan Kuhn of the Harahan Police Department and Capt. Matt Karl of the Hancock County Sheriff's Office got together and began discussing the possibilities of a full contact tackle football game between the Louisiana and Mississippi police officers.

"This would allow police officers from all areas to meet, have a good time playing football, and all for a good cause, collecting toys for children so they could have a joyous holiday season," said Karl.

The first game was played in Mississippi at the St. Stanislaus field. The outcome was a Mississippi victory 9-8. The second game was played in Louisiana. The outcome was similar, a Mississippi victory of 20-0.

"But, even more important," Karl said, "was the fan turnout and the amount of toys collected for the children."

The game has become an annual event alternating from year to year played in Mississippi then Louisiana to benefit the children who otherwise would have an empty Christmas.

"As police officers we are sworn to protect and to serve," Karl said. "No one said our service to you — the public — has to be just enforcing the laws of our country. Our goal is to assist in any way we can even if we are extremely sore the next day."

In order to keep the bowl game going, the Sheriff's Department is asking for assistance in a sponsorship of the Mississippi team.

"For the past two years we have been using the St. Stanislaus High School's equipment," Karl said. "We really thank the school for their help, but it gets difficult at times trying to fit a man in a young boy's uniform. Last year the Louisiana team was able to obtain enough sponsors to totally furnish the gear and uniforms for each one of their players."

"Well, the Mississippi team needs help," he explained. "Our goal of $7,000 is needed by Sept. 30. Anything donated will be greatly appreciated. We would like to thank you in advance for your assistance, and any help you can give us in meeting our goals regarding this matter," he said.

Free youth fishing competition scheduled September 5 and 6

Youths ages 7-10 and 11-14 will have an opportunity to test their casting, pitching and flipping skills at the educational, fun and challenging Bassmaster CastingKids Competition Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 5-6, 11 a.m.-2 p.m. and 3-6 p.m. both days on Coleman Avenue Soccer Field in Waveland.

Sponsored by Hancock County Bassmasters and Waveland Civic Association, the kids will be judged on their basic casting, pitching and flipping skills. Those who make the national finals will compete against kids in their own age group for $20,000 in scholarships and prizes.

Each competitor will receive a free Bassmaster CastingKids Certificate of Completion and a copy of the program's official publication, Bassmaster CastingKids Magazine.

Winners at the local level also receive a medal and a Zebco rod and reel.

The contest, sponsored on a national level by the Bass Anglers Sportsman Society, Zebco and Kmart, is based on the old football "Punt, Pass & Kick" competition.

The contest begins on the local level where each entrant will be judged on casting, pitching and flipping in official lanes, aiming at the standard Bassmaster CastingKids target to ensure competition uniformity.

Scoring will be based on a point system with the highest points determining the winner in each of the two age groups. From there, the winners from each local competition will advance to their respective state competitions and then on to a national competition, where only 10 national semifinalists will earn the right to attend the Bass Masters Classic in August 1999 and compete for the two titles of National Bassmaster CastingKids Champion.

In addition to the $20,000 in scholarships for the top anglers, $5,000 in prizes will be awarded to BASS Chapters and State Federation sponsoring the winners.

"The Bassmaster CastingKids program is a wonderful event that has many benefits," commented Hancock County Bassmasters Chapter Committee Chairman Raymond Cuevas.

The age groups are:
7-10 as of August 31, 1999, (born between Sept. 1, 1988-Aug. 31, 1992)

Triple Play Draw Poker at Magic

Triple Play Draw Poker has arrived at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis. What exactly is it? Triple Play is an exciting new version of your favorite poker games.

You can play three hands per game and better your chances of winning each time. You may have a straight in one hand, a flush in the second hand and a royal flush in the third.

Three hands are dealt with only one hand dealt face-up. Players indicate by touch screen or a button option, the cards to be held. The cards the guest holds in the face-up hand are automatically held on the other two face-down hands. The machine offers five different games: Jacks or Better, Bonus Triple Play, Deuces Wild, Double Bonus Triple Play or Double Double Triple Play.

As in regular poker slot machines, winning combinations include a pair, straight, flush and other winning poker combinations. The main attraction of this three-hand game is that the player can bet up to 15 quarters at once, with a potential win of 12,000 coins or $3,000.

Triple Play Draw Poker is by IGT, in conjunction with Action Gaming Inc.

Grand Casinos offers Elvis Presley coins

Grand Casino Gulfport and Grand Casino Biloxi are offering a set of four collector coins honoring the "King of Rock n' Roll," Elvis Presley. Each coin honors four important anniversaries in the life of Elvis.

Grand Casinos has the exclusive license by Elvis Presley Enterprises to offer these 24-karat gold finished coins, available on a first-come, first-served basis. Guests may receive a free coin by earning slot points or playing table games during the specific time period indicated for each coin.

Coins are also available for sale at any Grand Casino Gift Shop for $25/each or $100/set while supply lasts.

Full sets will be available the week of Aug. 24. Complete details are available at the Grand Advantage Center of either Grand Casino Gulfport or Grand Casino Biloxi.

Beginning with the 40th Anniversary of Elvis Induction into the Army, the first coin shows Presley in his uniform, ready to serve his country. He reported to Memphis Draft Board 86 with his parents, a few friends and relatives and Col. Parker March 24, 1958. The debut coin will be available beginning Monday, Aug. 17 until Sunday, Aug. 23.

Elvis' most critically applauded film, and his personal favorite, "King Creole" is depicted on the second coin. Pressley was scheduled to enter the Army two months earlier than he did, but was given a 60-day deferment so he could shoot the film.

"King Creole" was filmed in New Orleans and was Presley's first movie to be filmed on location. The coin will be issued beginning Monday, Aug. 24 and ends Sunday, Aug. 30.

Monday, Aug. 31 begins the issuance of the third coin marking the 30th Anniversary of Elvis' 1968 Comeback TV Special.

Focusing mainly on his movie career, Presley had not performed live on stage in over seven years, and this December 1968 special was one of the most watched programs of the year. The coin features "the Legend" with his leather jacket and cherished guitar. The third coin is available until Friday, Sept. 4.

The fourth coin celebrates an event that was watched by over a billion people in 40 counties. The "Elvis: Aloha from Hawaii" television special aired in January, 1973, and was a benefit concert for the Kui Lee Cancer Fund.

The concert raised $75,000. The issue date begins Tuesday, Sept. 8 and closes Sunday, Sept. 13.

For information on the Elvis Presley Collector Coins call Grand Casino Gulfport, 1-800-WIN-7777 or Grand Casino Biloxi, 1-800-WIN-2-WIN.

Willie Nelson to perform at Grand

Grand Casino Biloxi prepares for the Sept. 10 and 11 return of award-winning singer/songwriter, Willie Nelson. Nelson will perform at the Biloxi Grand Theatre Thursday, Sept. 10 and Friday, Sept. 11, 7:30 p.m.

With more than 100 albums to his credit, Nelson's musical journey has been anything but predictable. As familiar as the unmistakable voice of Nelson is to his fans they are forever surprised as to what he will do next.

He has continually renewed his artistic vision throughout a career that has spanned more than 35 years. Whether its blues, raggae, gospel or country, Nelson is a master.

Early in this career, the songs Nelson wrote were recorded and made hits by other artists. Patsy Cline recorded his "Crazy" in 1961 which was followed by "Hello Walls," a hit for Faron Young.

"Willingly" and "Touch Me," duets Nelson sang with his second wife, Shirley Collie, reached the top 10 in 1962 and gave Nelson his first singing successes.

During the late 70's and 80's Nelson was without a doubt country music's biggest star. Hits such as "On the Road Again," "My Heroes Have Always Been Cowboys," "Always On My Mind," "Blue Eyes Crying in the Rain," and "Whiskey River," dominated the airwaves and paid no attention to the premise of musical segregation by formats.

In 1984, he helped establish Farm Aid for which he is the president and chairman. Through star-studded concerts, Farm Aid has raised over $15 million that has been distributed among various educational, legal, emergency help, and out-reach organizations.

Nelson's empathy about life's ups and downs and man's need for a little understanding and respect has made him one of the most loved public figures in the world.

Nelson signed with Island Records in 1996, a label, which in its 33-year history has never featured a country artist.

Nelson was quoted as saying, "This is the kind of label I have been looking for my whole life, one that would put up money and let me do what I want to do."

For ticket information, call the Biloxi Grand Theatre Box Office, 1-800-WIN-2-WIN. Ticket prices are $30/floor and $25/balcony. Tickets are also available at all TicketMaster outlets.

Hancock Bank to install new corporate signs

Gulf Coast residents gazing at the downtown Gulfport skyline will see red — red neon, that is.

This week, Hancock Bank will begin installation of new corporate signs with lighted red letters on the north and south exposures of the corporate tower located at 25th Avenue and 14th Street.

According to Hancock Bank President George Schloegel, changing the appearance of the five-foot-plus letters constitutes an ongoing corporate effort to keep pace with the high-tech look accompanying explosive community development along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

"Eighteen years of general wear-and-tear from the elements required that we replace some of the letters on the building. We felt this provided an excellent opportunity to brighten Hancock Bank's presence in the downtown (Gulfport) area and to add to the already impressive night skyline," said Schloegel.

"The lighting on the south side of the building should also provide mariners off-shore a focal point at night," he said. Schloegel added that updating the letters on the One Hancock Plaza building will not affect current corporate trademarks — namely, a stylistic circular depiction of the original Ship Island lighthouse, traditional block-cap letters, blue and white corporate colors and a commitment to customer service.

"Strength, stability, integrity and service represent our corporate mottoes and the philosophies upon which Hancock Bank was founded in 1899. We remain dedicated to the people of our Mississippi and Louisiana market areas and are honored to play a role in the socioeconomic growth of our unique Gulf South region," Schloegel said.

Darryl Breckenridge, the Hancock Bank advertising director who helped coordinate the project, said painters and subcontractors will begin preparing the north and south facades for the new letters this week, with final installation completed tentatively by Sept. 1.

"Installing these letters is a rather tedious process and very much dependent on weather conditions. Ultimately, our goal is to ensure these new letters not only reflect the progressive nature of Hancock Bank financial services but also enhance what is quickly becoming a very metropolitan-like coastal skyline," said Breckenridge.

Hancock Holding Company announces termination of Louisiana merger

On April 14, Hancock Holding (Hancock) company entered into an agreement for the acquisition of American Security Bancshares of Ville Platte, Inc. (American Security), Ville Platte, La., and its subsidiary, American Security Bank (ASB).

On June 17, 1998, Hancock was notified that ASB had failed to renew a lease of one of its branch locations, which accounted for approximately 17 percent of its total deposits and approximately 32 percent of its total loans at March 31, 1998.

Hancock determined that American Security would not be able to comply with the terms of the agreement, due in part to the loss of the lease by American Security. Hancock began discussions with American Security to determine a solution to resolve these issues, including a possible mutual termination of the agreement.

On July 27, 1998, American Security filed a lawsuit against Hancock seeking, among other things, specific performance of the merger agreement. American Security asserts that Hancock does not have the right to terminate the agreement and that Hancock has breached the agreement by asserting that it is terminated.

Datasync changes name to AMC Internet Services

Datasync Internet has announced a name change to AMC Internet Services.

Datasync, recently acquired by American Metrocomm, a Competitive Local Exchange Carrier (CLEC) based in New Orleans, announced the transition to its new name at its member convention last Sunday.

States Mark Gehres, Datasync president and AMC Internet Services vice president of operations, "The transition to the new name allows us to further integrate existing American Metrocomm companies into the Internet fold while helping American Metrocomm to develop its brand name throughout the multi-state region it will serve with Internet services and telephone services."

"We're extremely proud and pleased with our association with American Metrocomm and we see this partnership as a win-win for Datasync, American Metrocomm, and all of our combined customers."

Under the new operating name, no reduction to personnel or services is planned. AMC Internet Services has been aggressively introducing new products and services for its customers, many of which were shown and demonstrated at the member convention Aug. 16.

The new company also sports a new Internet Domain and web site at www.ametro.net. Datasync subscribers with email addresses based on the datasync.com name may continue to use their existing email addresses. However, they may also begin using the new name for their email address as well.

Any email addressed to the member at datasync.com or at ametro.net will arrive safely at the member's normal destination without any interruption.

Again, per Mark Gehres, "these changes have been made as transparent as possible in order to avoid any possible interruption in service to our customers. Our members will be able to continue to get their email and other services, regardless of which domain they use."

There should be no need for Datasync customers to reprint business cards or company letterhead simply because of the name change. All in all, I believe that our existing subscribers are going to love the new services available to them."

As part of AMC Internet Service's products, the new company now has a community web site where members can chat, maintain buddy lists, use instant messaging and a host of other services. Browsers can reach the new community web site at:

www.metrocommunity.net.

Boat dealer wins award, expands sales territory

Breath's Boats & Motors in Bay St. Louis has been awarded the Grady-White "Customer-One" award which recognizes Grady-White dealerships for providing outstanding customer satisfaction.

The company received the award Aug. 4 at the Grady-White annual dealership conference, which took place in New Burn, N.C.

Breath's is among only five Grady-White dealerships in the world to claim the award. The boat manufacturer selected the award winners based on information they gathered from customer surveys.

Grady-White is a top-of-the-line power boat, manufactured in Greenville, N.C. and distributed throughout the world. Breath's Boats & Motors is the Grady-White dealer for Mississippi and South Louisiana.

In other news, the manufacturer of Boston Whaler boats has asked Breath's Boats & Motors to expand its marketing area making Breath's the exclusive Boston Whaler dealership in all of Mississippi and in Louisiana to Baton Rouge.

"Boston Whaler manufactures a high-end boat that we have long been proud to include in our dealership line," says John Ladner, president of Breath's.

"It is testament to the company's faith in Breath's that they have asked us to expand our marketing area. We will continue to provide the best customer service and look forward to welcoming new customers from our new dealership area."

Breath's, established on the Mississippi Coast in 1925, has been a Boston Whaler dealer since 1960.

Also, OMC, the Waukegan, Ill.-based company that manufactures Johnson Outboard Motors has awarded Breath's Boats & Motors an exclusive marketing region in South Mississippi and South Louisiana for its Four Winns boat line. Four Winns is the company's subsidiary that makes high-quality, run-a-bout, cabin cruiser boats.

"We are honored and pleased to have been selected as the exclusive Four Winns dealership in this area. Before now, the nearest Four Winns dealership was in Florida," says John Ladner, president of Breath's.

"In addition, we have done business with OMC since 1925 and are the oldest Johnson Outboard dealer in Mississippi. We will work hard to continue to earn OMC's confidence in us."

Breath's expects to have Four Winns models in its showroom by Sept. 1.

Hancock denies the assertions and intends to vigorously pursue all remedies available to it. However, there can be no assurance that Hancock will prevail in such litigation.

Gulf Coast residents receive NASA awards

Nine Gulf Coast residents were among 32 people recognized recently during NASA's Honor Awards Ceremony at the John C. Stennis Space Center. NASA employees receiving awards included Harold Taulbee and Don Coss, both of Long Beach, and James Cluff of Gulfport who received the NASA Group Achievement Award as members of the Security Service Buying Team.

Myron Webb of Long Beach received a certificate of appreciation for her work on the Stennis Space Center history publication team, along with Johnson Controls World Services' Mack Herring of Bay St. Louis.

NASA's Joey Kirkpatrick of Diamondhead was presented with an award for submitting a suggestion to build a standard, high-speed data system from a commercial off-the-shelf, high-speed data recorder as a replacement to the current, high-frequency data system at Stennis.

NASA's Janet Austill of Pearlman, Robert Delcuzze of Bay St. Louis and Don Kelly of Diamondhead received NASA Service Awards for 25 years of service in the federal government.

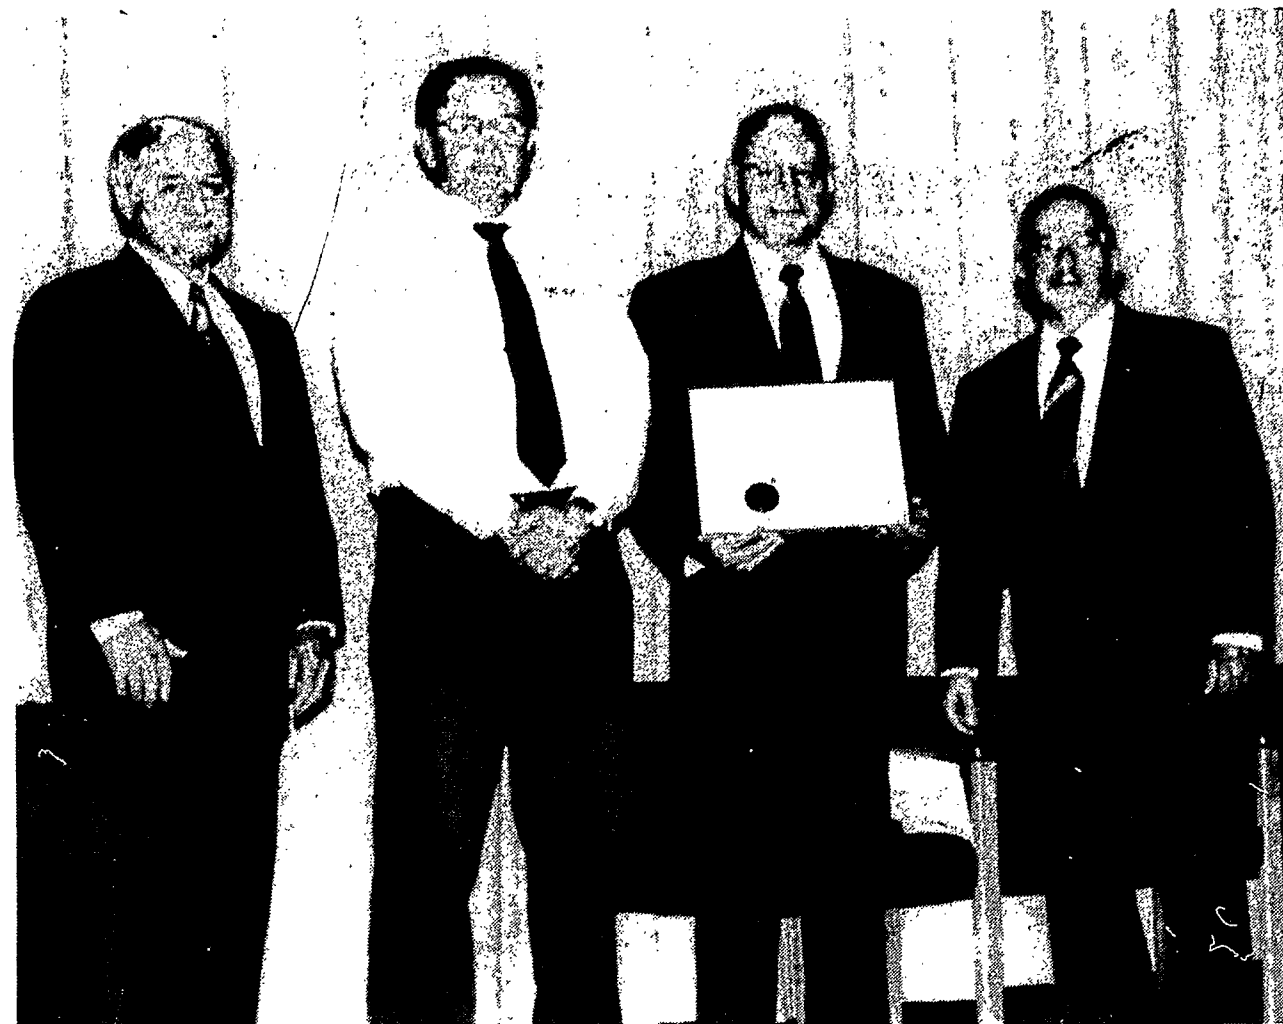

NASA's prestigious Honor Awards were given to a number of carefully selected individuals and groups, both government and non-government, who make outstanding contributions to the NASA mission.

In his address, Stennis Space Center Director Roy Estess said, "I want to give you a big pat on the back. The ones getting the recognition today are but the tip of the iceberg. The iceberg being all of those who stand under them to make them the success they've been. I am elated to be a part of this team and to see what you have done."

Joseph Rothenberg, NASA's associate administrator for Space Flight at NASA Headquarters in Washington, D.C., was guest speaker.

Prior to presenting medals and certificates to the award recipients, Rothenberg said, "At a small center (such as Stennis Space Center), everybody is part of the team. Every one of you contributed in some form or another to the center's mission."

"I do recognize that it isn't the efforts of one employee. All of us depend on an awful lot of people behind us. Some of those people are here at work, but many of them are at home, spouses, children, parents, brothers and sisters, and friends in the community."

Group award

NASA Associate Administrator for Space Flight Joseph Rothenberg, right, presents the Group Achievement Award to James Cluff of Gulfport and Harold Taulbee of Long Beach during Stennis Space Center's NASA Honor Awards Ceremony. As members of the Security Services Buying Team, Cluff and Taulbee were responsible for developing a performance-based work statement that encouraged adequate price competition by using a fixed price, performance-based contracting vehicle. This eliminated the need for lengthy and expensive cost analysis of all proposals. A conservative estimate of savings produced by this team is $74,000. Team members made a successful award of a $8.9 million contract in three months. Pictured, from left, are Stennis Space Center Director Roy Estess, Cluff, Taulbee and Rothenberg. Not pictured are team members Bob Jeffries and Jerry Misch of Slidell and Don Coss of Long Beach.

Kirkpatrick received the award for his suggestion to build a standard, high-speed data system from a conventional off-the-shelf, high-speed data recorder as a replacement to the current, high-frequency data system at Stennis Space Center.

Certificate of Appreciation

The team was recognized for their outstanding efforts leading to the publication of the Stennis Space Center history book, Way Station to Space.
